

OpenSource Advisors Assists Massachusetts Innovation and Technology Exchange (MITX)

Needham, MA, June 2010 — Paul Campbell, Managing Director of OpenSource Advisors (OSA) assisted the Massachusetts Innovation and Technology Exchange (MITX) www.mitx.org as an evaluation judge for the fourth consecutive year. The Massachusetts Innovation & Technology Exchange (MITX) serves the Internet business & marketing industry, where marketing and technology converge. Mr. Campbell has evaluated companies and products for the yearly MITX technology awards in various categories including; Devices and Enabling Technologies, Marketing and CRM Technologies, Data Management and Applied Technologies. “MITX is the premier Internet business and marketing association in New England and it has been an honor to work with them as well as the other judges” said Mr. Campbell. “MITX brings together a tremendous mix of business and technology expertise each year to evaluate the most exciting products in dozens of categories” This year’s winners were no exception and can be found @ <http://www.mitxawards.org/technology/>.

About OpenSource Advisors (OSA)

OpenSource Advisors is a business and technology services firm founded in 2004, specializing in business process engineering supported by enterprise centric open source strategy and solutions and the integration of advanced technologies. OSA enables clients to obtain measurable ROI through process change and leveraging scalable open solutions with existing enterprise applications. For more information, please see: www.opensourceadvisors.com